Pulte Homes Breaks Ground on New Albuquerque Community

Estates at Academy in Far Northeast Heights set to open Spring 2024

Pulte Homes has officially broken ground on its newest community in Albuquerque, Estates at Academy. This private, gated boutique community of luxurious new homes nestled in the heart of the Far Northeast Heights corridor will grand open in Spring 2024.

“We were thrilled to host so many wonderful people to our groundbreaking event last week,” said Wade Messenger, vice president of field operations for PulteGroup’s New Mexico division. “New home construction does not happen very often in this prestigious area, and we expect Estates at Academy, with its unobstructed picturesque views of the city and Sandia Mountains, will be very appealing to homebuyers.”

At buildout, Estates at Academy will be comprised of 39 single-story homes on large homesites, each offering open indoor and outdoor living, luxury finishes, and diverse architectural options and elevations. The typical lot dimensions will be 65′ x 120′ and plan sizes will range from 2,443 to 3,149+ sq. ft., each featuring open and flexible living spaces such as a den, guest suite, casita, courtyards, and up to 3-car garages.

Estates at Academy is in a great location along open space of the Albuquerque Academy near Hoffmantown Church. Outside of the community, residents will enjoy private access to Mission Fields Park and amphitheater complex, as well as the Tanoan Country Club and Golf Course, the premier private country club in the city.

More information, including home designs, lot locations and pricing is coming soon. Interested buyers are encouraged to visit pulte.com/homes/new-mexico/albuquerque/albuquerque/estates-at-academy-211178 to stay updated on community developments.
