Centex announces the grand opening of its new Murfreesboro community, Ashton at Salem Creek. Located 30 minutes south of Nashville just two miles off I-24, the boutique community features two-story, well-appointed townhomes nestled along tree-lined streets in the heart of Tennessee.

Ashton at Salem Creek features three home designs new to Nashville; the Grisham, Hemingway and Sierra. Ranging from 1,665 - 1,735 sq. ft. and each with 3 bedrooms, 2.5 bathrooms and 1-car garages, only 42 homes will be available at build-out. Pricing starts at $269,990.

“Murfreesboro is an incredible, family-rich community ranked as one of America’s Top Places to Live just a few years ago,” said Will Coles, division president of Centex Homes in Nashville. “We are thrilled to bring the Centex brand to Murfreesboro with Ashton at Salem Creek, and look forward to opening two additional communities in the coming year.”

Ashton at Salem Creek offers unparalleled value in the area, with interior standard features including upstairs laundry, 9-foot first floor ceilings, granite kitchen counter tops, stainless-steel appliances and engineered marble counter tops in all bathrooms. And to keep the outside just as gorgeous as the inside, residents will enjoy superior landscaping, low maintenance sod with irrigation and landscape maintenance provided through the Homeowners Association.
