The inaugural edition of The Global Boardroom was an instant hit. With 107 speakers and 52.297 attendees the results were above expectation.

A note from Orson Francescone, Managing Director, FT Live

From 12 - 14 May, the Financial Times and TNW, brought together a truly remarkable convergence of minds, intellects and influencers in an unprecedented fashion.

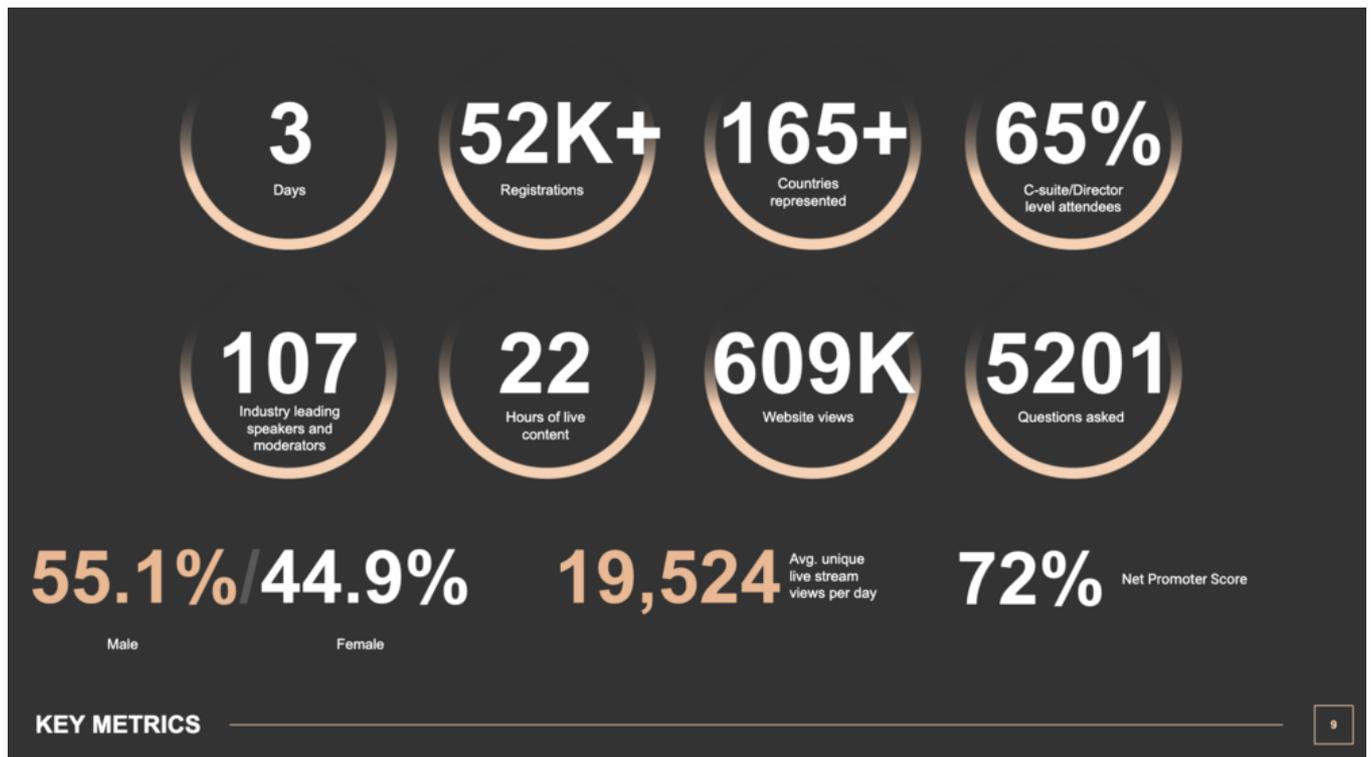

This crisis has hit the entire world fast, very fast. We have been, and still are, desperate for answers, from our physical well being to the wellbeing of our loved ones, to the future of our livelihoods and to that of our businesses and our countries.

Through FT-led discussions with leaders from around the world, we have tried to assess the impact of the pandemic so far, what is required for recovery and the long-term implications of the developing crisis. I trust it has been of value to you in planning for the future.

Thank you for being with us - you are one of 52,297 people who have participated in inaugural edition of The Global Boardroom.

The second edition of The Global Boardroom is planned on November 11-13, right after the US elections.

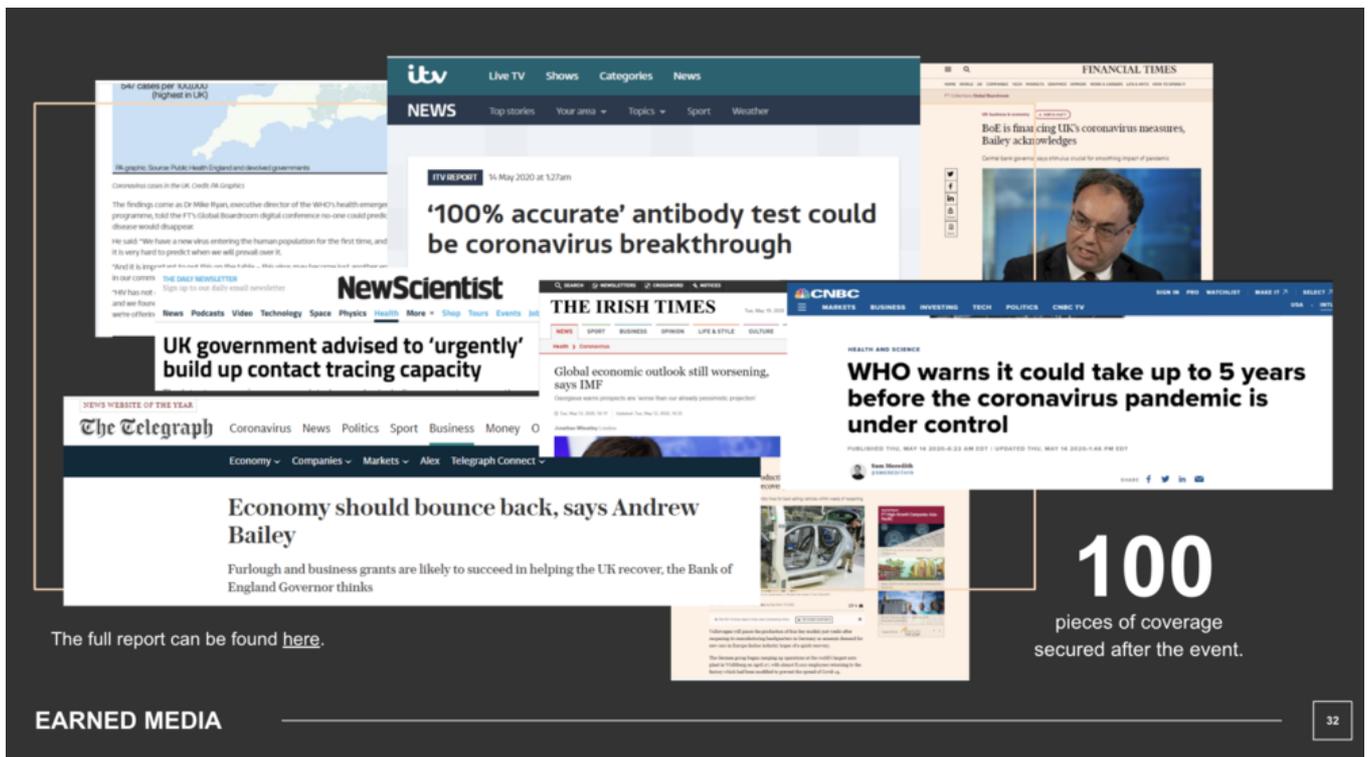

Stats

Quality of discussion was exceptional during each panel and individual presentation.

— Founder & Chair, MPA Global

100+ media articles

You are delivering a tremendous value of content which is a welcome respite during this time. The caliber of speakers and discussion are incredible.

— Founder, Corporate Board Millennial

The Showreel

Probably the best surrogate for a physical event I've attended since the crisis began. Speakers are thoughtfully chosen, articulate and well prepared.
