December 2, 2019, New York, NY -- The SoundCloud Creator Forum lands in Miami, taking over Wynwood creative space, The Set, for a three day experience open to all creators (Dec 3-5). The Art Basel inspired edition of the forum follows recent events in Atlanta and Amsterdam, and is focused on helping creators build their brand.

Events include artist and industry-led panels on branding, creativity, and writing and styling workshops in partnership with British lifestyle magazine, The Face, and open sessions with music production software, FL Studio. The three day lineup wraps with a musical blow out--the SoundCloud x Ate O' Ate Art Basel Party, featuring DJ and producer, Ape Drums, musician and songwriter Suzi Analogue, Artist and drum and bass DJ, Jubilee, house-inspired DJ Stonie Blue and musical duo Paperwater. Full details below.

The programming reflects SoundCloud's mission to empower creators to take their career to the next level and push music culture forward, while using the backdrop of Art Basel and Miami's rich art and music culture to provide inspiration. Creators who are new subscribers or free users will be eligible to receive a free three-month Pro Unlimited subscription if they RSVP and check-in to one of the activation days.
