

Envato named one of Australia's best places to work for fourth year running

Envato has placed 14th in the 2018 Best Places to Work Study, a catalogue of the 50 employers nationally.

Based on one of the world's most comprehensive studies of workplace culture by Great Place to Work Australia, the is widely acclaimed and recognised in Australia as a means for measuring employee engagement and workplace excellence.

It is the fourth straight year Envato has finished inside the top 20 of the study, and comes after a 12th place finish in 2017, 17th in 2016 and 12th in 2015.

Chief People Officer Michelle Ridsdale said Envato was proud to be among the best companies to work for.

"We have never taken for granted Envato's position in the Great Place to Work rankings and have worked tirelessly over the last 12 months to respond to staff feedback about how best we can improve our workplace culture," she said.

"But to be recognised as one of the top 15 best companies to work for in Australia is immensely satisfying and proof that our commitment to creating a positive and enjoyable workplace is paying off."

Zrinka Lovrencic, MD of Great Place to Work Australia, said the success of the Best Workplaces is a testament to their willpower and innovation to retain happy, engaged, loyal, high performing workforces during challenging times. "This is an exciting, transformative and competitive time for companies," she said.

"With a services sector heavy economy, employers now need to make a greater effort to improve their workplace cultures in order to retain employees. This competitive pressure benefits everyone, as all workplaces can increase their levels of employee engagement. The companies that have made the 2018 study have risen to this challenge and exemplify workplace culture excellence."
