Christos Tsantilis Revisits Deeply Personal Advocacy Track with “Shiny Gun”

Shiny Gun Available Now on All Streaming Platforms

(Los Angeles, CA) May 7, 2021 -- Christos ‘Stos’ Tsantilis, previously of the band NOSUGA, has released a single twenty years in the making, titled “Shiny Gun”.

“Shiny Gun” is a genre-bending track that was originally written in 2002. The members of NOSUGA consider the song to have elements of rock, blues & rap.

NOSUGA created the song after dealing with the death of a close friend by way of suicide. However, they were unable to release it at the time because the situation was still too raw.

Years later, NOSUGA member Christos ‘Stos’ Tsantilis was burdened by recent violence around the globe and remembered the unreleased song. He states, “A lot of songs are about breakups, makeups, dancing and everyone needs those. But we also have to make music that deals with tough topics. Working on this song helped me heal from what happened. I hope it helps my bandmates, and I hope it helps anyone whose life has been impacted by gun violence.”

“Shiny Gun” is available now on all major platforms. Visit Christos (Stos) Tsantilis’ website for more information.
