

Ker Releases Melodic New Single "Love To You All," a World War One Letter Set to Music

Ker Steps Into Heavier, Atmospheric Territory with the Final Stretch of "Converging Paths"

Scottish singer-songwriter Ker will release in two weeks what may be the most ambitious track of his debut album cycle. "Love To You All" is a song drawn from the image of a letter found in the mud and debris of the Western Front during the First World War.

The song is the ninth single from Ker's debut album Converging Paths, and it arrives in a different register than anything he has put out before. Where earlier releases like Pine Ridge Road offered cheerful escapism, a jaunty drive through the mountains of northwest Montana, and Big Boots and Wide Brimmed Hats leaned into open-road country charm, "Love To You All" is slow, atmospheric, and quietly heavy. Carried by an understated, lingering melody, it is not angry, not political. Just weighted with distance and longing.

The inspiration came from an autobiographical account written by a First World War survivor, published in the 1950s. The book traces, in plain and often brutal terms, the arc from patriotic duty to the grinding reality of the trenches. The fear, the exhaustion, the deep disorientation of men caught between a life they left behind and a future they could not count on. Ker took from that account the voice of a soldier sitting down to write home, cold hands and warm heart, surrounded by everything that war looks, smells and sounds like. The letter in the song is fictional, but it feels true.

The production, handled entirely by Jamie Graham who has engineered and produced every Ker release, gives the track a wide, unhurried sound. Recorded in stereo, the song runs over three minutes long, and that length is used deliberately. The song breathes, pauses, and returns to its central chorus with patience that most contemporary releases do not allow themselves. The arrangement has the character of something quietly cinematic, an open and muted backdrop against which the lyrics and striking musical motifs do their work.

And those lyrics are worth attention. Ker has always written with a preference for the concrete over the abstract, birds, physical objects, specific places, and that instinct serves “Love To You All” especially well. A lark, poppies, a golden oriole, a tooting owl in a derelict barn. What might have become sentimental is instead grounded and particular. The soldier in the song is not a symbol. He is a person noticing the things around him with the heightened attention of someone who does not know how many more days he has to notice anything. The chorus returns twice, anchoring the track and landing a little differently each time, accumulating an emotional weight by the end that a shorter song simply could not build.

Ker came to music relatively late, picking up the guitar in 2014 at a store in Kalispell, Montana, and eventually setting up a recording studio in his garden in Scotland. He has been releasing singles steadily since December 2025, expanding his reach across top global markets including the UK, USA, India, and Poland.

The project has attracted coverage from media outlets including Jukebox Time, The Ark of Music, and The Yonkers Observer. Each release has added a different dimension to an album that, taken as a whole, covers remarkable ground. Listeners have already gravitated toward standouts like "Lofty Thoughts," "Big Boots and Wide Brimmed Hats," "Time Traveler," and his most popular track to date, "Open Heart Surgery (The Lone Stranger)," which began when a Vietnam veteran handed Ker a handwritten poem at a small concert in Columbia Falls, Montana, and asked him to set it to music.

"Love To You All" sits apart from all of it, and that distance is the point. It is proof that a debut album can hold a song this heavy without losing what came before. Ker is in no rush to cross the finish line. A few more singles remain to round out the Converging Paths album, including "Snowbirds," "Growing Concerns," "North Valley Stroll - Part 1," and the title track itself. These are all scheduled to be released by the end of September as Ker continues to expand his digital footprint and connect with an ever-growing global audience online.

Meanwhile, groundwork is already underway for his follow-up album, The Importance of Nothing. With backing guitars and vocals already tracked, a few more recording sessions are planned for this summer, setting the stage to kick off a waterfall release approach in the late autumn, with the full album expected early next year.

What Ker has done with this song is take a subject that could easily collapse under its own gravity and make something that's an act of quiet remembrance. Not a monument. Just a song that holds still long enough for the listener to feel it. Whether the letter it imagines was ever found, ever read, or ever reached anyone, is beside the point. It reaches you now.

"Love To You All" will be available on June 19th across all major streaming platforms.

Ker

Top tracks

Preview

Follow

- |   |  |       |
|---|--|-------|
| 1 | Open Heart Surgery - The Lone Stranger | 03:45 |
|   | <small>Ker</small>                     |       |
| 2 | Pine Ridge Road                        | 02:20 |
|   | <small>Ker</small>                     |       |
| 3 | Just What Happened                     | 03:23 |
|   | <small>Ker</small>                     |       |
| 4 | Time Traveler                          | 03:22 |
|   | <small>Ker</small>                     |       |

▲ Ker Music

About AMW Group

AMW is a full-service marketing and business solutions agency specializing in software development, AI integration, branding, and strategic marketing support for businesses, entertainment ventures, and personal brands. The company delivers tailored solutions designed to help clients streamline operations, strengthen brand presence, and adapt to today's rapidly evolving digital landscape. From developing innovative technologies and launching new ventures to executing comprehensive marketing campaigns, AMW provides end-to-end support that allows clients to focus on their core business while driving long-term growth and visibility.

Contact details

Communications

AMW Group Inc.

www.amworldgroup.com

info [a] amworldgroup.com

\(310\) 295-4150295-4150)

Copy link

<https://amwgroup.pr.co/266481-ker-releases-melodic-new-single-love-to-you-all-a-world-war-one-letter-set-to-music/>