

Intelligent welcomes Stone IS and 1EuroHost into the group

Today, Intelligent, the group of companies specialised in hosting services, announces the acquisition of Stone Internet Services and 1EuroHost. In their market segment, both are influential companies, which are praised for their products, among which are the hosting services for Tomorrowland and Canvas. Both brands will continue to be developed.

Intelligent chooses to continue to develop the brands with the existing staff. Intelligent will also invest in new technologies, infrastructure and a significant expansion of the team. The team will keep working independently of the other companies in the Intelligent group. The products provided by Stone Internet Services (Stone IS) and 1EuroHost will be extended, optimised and improved, which is good news for all existing and new customers.

Stone IS will keep focusing on the provision of IaaS services and the further deployment of its DevOps philosophy. Over time, the 1EuroHost brand will join forces with Easyhost, which provides similar services.

Powerful hosting solutions thanks to many years of experience

Stone IS specialises in complex and extremely scalable cloud hosting solutions based on the innovative OnApp platform. This allows Stone IS to create fully tailored managed hosting solutions in the Cloud. This is why many international players use the platform to host websites that need to be able to handle high traffic peaks. Among Stone IS's customers are Tomorrowland, Canvas, Brussels Airlines and Ancienne Belgique.

1EuroHost specialises in providing domain names and high quality shared web hosting services at competitive prices, with which the customer has full control over the services. And it has been doing this for over 10 years.

“In the long run, we intend to expand the product ranges of Stone IS and 1EuroHost and invest in them so that both companies can keep their excellent reputation, with the support of a strong business partner,”
