

TaylorMade Golf Company Announces Partnership with Samsung

TaylorMade's myRoundPro statistical analysis platform exclusively available on Samsung Gear Smartwatches and Smart Fitness Bands

CARLSBAD, CALIF. (September 27, 2017) — TaylorMade Golf Company, an industry leader in product innovation and technology, and Samsung Electronics announced today that TaylorMade's myRoundPro statistical analysis platform will be available exclusively for the Gear S3 and recently announced Gear Fit2 Pro fitness band. In collaboration with Samsung, TaylorMade's engineers have co-developed a specific myRoundPro experience that utilizes the features of the compatible Samsung Gear devices to provide consumers with a unique experience aimed at those who would rather leave their phone at home or in their bag during play.

With the myRoundPro experience available on the Gear S3 and Gear Fit2 Pro, golfers of all skill levels can go hands-free and be able to view yardages to the front, middle and back of the green in addition to the total distance of their previous shot. Through the app, the compatible Gear device will keep record of scores on each hole played during the round in addition to providing a summary of key statistics immediately after the round's completion. Users can also attribute a specific club to each shot, ensuring that they experience optimal statistical analysis when reunited with the myRoundPro App on their phone at the conclusion of play.*

The new MyRoundPro for the Samsung Gear devices will be available in the Samsung Galaxy app store starting today, September 27, 2017.

Samsung's Latest Gear Smartwatches and Smart Fitness Bands Samsung has an industry leading wearable portfolio and recently announced new devices that will support the new myRoundPro app. In addition to the myRoundPro app, the new Gear Fit2 Pro also features new swim and heart rate monitoring capabilities and an advanced built-in GPS tracking to capture your run or ride with accurate activity tracking. The all-new secure, ergonomic band is light weight and comfortable to use for all activities.
