

Nordweg Releases New Line Of Black Edition Leather Laptop Backpacks

For immediate release;

Amsterdam, August 1st - You probably haven't heard about Nordweg before? That's because the family owned premium leather goods manufacturer from Brazil has been predominantly selling their goods to the Brazilian market. The brand is now expanding internationally with a beautiful new line of products.

Nordweg developed the Black Edition backpacks to be an essential complement for the modern traveller and city dwellers. With the spacious inside pockets to accommodate a notebook and others essentials, and it's front outside pocket's are perfect for quick access when needed.

Nordweg's mantra is "A good life", and that simple idea is applied to every aspect of the business. From their great customer service to the way they treat their employees. The workers get above average compensations and work in a safe, clean and relaxed environment, which translates to great quality products. Something still quite uncommon in Brazil unfortunately.

About Nordweg

The Nordweg brand was created by Igor Gaelzer, one of the sons of Ingo and Marisa, founders of the factory. The traditional and quality focused family business is located in the mountains of the south of Brazil, where the manufacturing team has been handcrafting high-quality leather accessories for more than twenty years.

Nowadays the factory positively impacts more than twenty local families, in the very same community it started in. The name comes from the German "the way north" and means to celebrate its story and connect today's modern brand to its roots and traditions of its founding German ancestors.
