Munich, July 1, 2026 - Wellpass, Europe's leading corporate wellness platform, today announced a partnership with komoot, the outdoor navigation and route planning app used by over 50 million adventurers worldwide. Starting July this year, all Wellpass users gain complimentary access to komoot Premium – a benefit previously available only via paid subscription – expanding Wellpass's offering beyond traditional gym and studio access into the great outdoors.

The partnership launches at the perfect time: just as summer holidays and peak vacation season begin, the partnership offers members the ideal opportunity to spend their free time actively exploring nature. Current figures demonstrate how popular this is: just over three-quarters of Germans say they occasionally go hiking, according to a 2024 study by the German Tourism Research Institute.

Using komoot through Wellpass is straightforward and hassle-free: Members can activate their personal Premium voucher with just a few clicks directly through the Wellpass app and immediately start planning their next route. For companies, promoting outdoor activities has become a key factor in improving employee mental and physical health, while positioning themselves as attractive employers in the competition for talent.

With this new offering, Wellpass continues to consistently expand its digital services. Komoot fits seamlessly into an already first-class portfolio of integrated digital offerings and partner apps. Wellpass members already benefit from a range of specialized apps including Lifesum for nutrition, the online fitness studio fitnessRAUM.de, 7Mind and harmony for mental health, YogaEasy and Asana Rebel for yoga, and the interactive fitness platform FIIT.

"At komoot, we believe that time in nature should be an easily accessible part of daily life. Through our partnership with EGYM Wellpass, we enable millions of employees across Europe and the USA to access komoot Premium. This helps them discover new places and plan everything – from morning bike commutes to weekend adventures."

Diane Gerbaux, Senior Sales and Partnerships Manager at komoot

"The boundaries between work, life, and wellbeing are increasingly blurring. EGYM Wellpass is proud to announce a partnership with komoot, Europe's leading outdoor platform. This collaboration ensures that employees have access to world-class health tools – whether they're working out in the gym or exploring the mountains."

Nicolas Stadlmayer, General Manager at Wellpass
