E-commerce leaders Hipex and Hypernode join forces

European tech powerhouse team.blue has acquired the Dutch e-commerce hosting specialist Hipex. Hipex will be joining forces with e-commerce specialist Hypernode, formerly known as Byte, and the founder of MageReport.

Hypernode is internationally known for their managed e-commerce cloud hosting solutions for Magento, Shopware and Akeneo with the focus on scalability. Hipex offers strong, performance-based hosting solutions for e-commerce software.

Both companies are well known in the Dutch e-commerce market for their high quality hosting services, their powerful platforms and their personal approach and support. Their customer base ranges from small e-commerce websites to large, international sellers as well as e-commerce agencies.

With the acquisition of Hipex, Hypernode stands to strengthen their position on the international market as a powerful e-commerce hosting specialist that offers the perfect solution for web shops of every size.

The combination of Hypernode's strong automation and the performance powers of Hipex creates the ultimate platform for flexibility, reliability and speed. Customers can rely on an established managed platform, with top-quality security, performance scans, and innovative automation tools such as Percolate, a tool that automatically improves your PageSpeed score, and MageReport Premium.

> Over the past years, we strongly motivated one another with our competitive technical solutions. Now, we will be combining forces and portfolios to offer every e-commerce website exactly what they need. We are proud to work together with Hypernode on the best e-commerce platform for web shops around the world.

> — Milan Bosman, CCO Hipex

> The technical and professional skills of the Hypernode team perfectly complement those of Hipex. We look forward to combining our teams into one that our customers and partners will be able to rely on for many years to come. We have already been awarded the shared first place in the Emerce 100 for our services and together, we will reach even bigger goals.
> — Ilka Timofei, CEO Hypernode

> I am overjoyed that Hipex is joining the team.blue family. With the combined offerings of Hypernode and Hipex, we are even better poised for growth in e-commerce hosting, in the Netherlands and internationally.
