Introducing JBL Quantum 520, Quantum 520X and Quantum 120

The updated range brings immersive sound and personalization to all gamers

Cologne, 26 August 2026 – JBL announces JBL Quantum 520 Wireless, Quantum 520X Wireless, and Quantum 120. The new headsets join the mid-range flagship JBL Quantum 650 Wireless to complete the refreshed lineup, designed to deliver immersive JBL Quantum Spatial Sound for all gamers – from beginner, to advanced, and everything in between. Powered by JBL QuantumENGINE and featuring comfortable, lightweight materials, and vibrant new colorways, the updated range now offers better performance and more choice than ever. Whether you prefer wired or wireless, console or PC, JBL Quantum has something for every gamer.

Unlock a new level of sound

Featuring 50 mm carbon dynamic drivers, JBL Quantum 650, 520, 520X and 120 deliver powerful, immersive audio at all levels, letting you hear every detail – from the sound of distant footsteps to a subtle pin drop. Sense your opponent's every move, from any direction, as JBL Spatial Sound puts you in the center of the action. Whether someone is running towards you, or sneaking up from behind, you'll always be one step ahead.

Playing with friends? The detachable 6mm cardioid boom mic on all headsets keeps your voice clear and focused through those high-stakes battles, so your team will never miss a callout.

"We want gamers of all levels to feel the difference that high-quality audio can make to gameplay – and the updates to our JBL Quantum range are a reflection of that," said Carsten Olesen, President of Consumer Audio at HARMAN. "Building on our strong entry into the gaming market, we have used our latest innovations and expertise to evolve JBL Quantum into a complete lineup that delivers an elevated experience at all levels."

Game your way

Add a pop of color to your setup with Coral or Purple, or stick with classic Ice or Black, with four new colorways to choose from. Now featuring a silicone headband and breathable fabric ear-cushions, up to 45 hours of playtime in Quantum 650 and up to 37 hours in Quantum 520 and 520X, JBL's wireless headsets keep you powered through any game. Whether you choose Quantum 650 or Quantum 120, both are designed for lasting comfort through every gaming session. For even greater longevity and personalization, Quantum 650 features replaceable components, including the microphone, ear cushions, earcup covers, and cable. So you can refresh your headset, create your own color combination, and keep it game-ready for years to come.

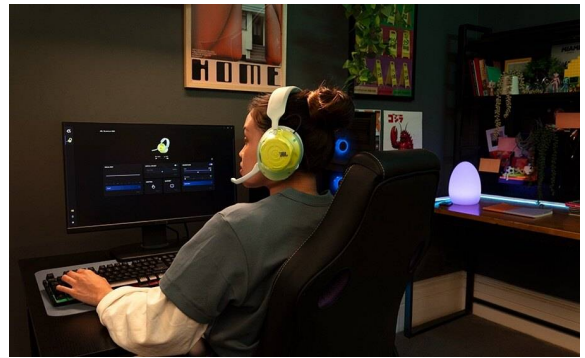

Playing on Xbox? JBL Quantum 520X is Xbox certified, so you can enjoy high-quality sound, free from wires. Prefer a wired connection? JBL Quantum 120 packs great sound and more features into a comfortable, lightweight design. Up your game for less, without compromising on sound.

Plus, you can customize your sound, mic, and profile settings with JBL QuantumENGINE. Your sound, just the way you like it.
