Dan.com Unveils Global Brokerage Team to Build Value for Domain Investors

Dan.com, one of the leading global domain aftermarkets, has been committed to innovation and excellence in the domain industry since its inception in 2014. Now, Dan.com is set to launch a powerful and streamlined brokerage team for their domain sellers around the world.

Driven by the idea of putting customers first, the Dan.com brokerage team will combine exceptional domain selling expertise with unparalleled speed and response time, all to deliver increased revenue for Dan.com's domain investors.

With a deep knowledge of domains, this best-in-class team of brokers has already closed over $200 million in sales and will work to take Dan.com and its sellers to the next level. By leveraging a team of domain experts who speak 11 languages and cover 20 hours per day, the Dan.com brokerage team brings an unrivaled global skillset to each potential domain deal, ensuring sellers reach their full potential with their portfolios.

As a result of this launch, Dan.com will discontinue its partnership with Media Options as of September 1st, 2022, and will actively offer the Dan.com brokerage team from that point forward.

For Dan.com sellers, the process of enabling the brokerage team will remain the same. Nothing will change for sellers regarding the commission or initiating brokerage requests.

We look forward to the launch of this groundbreaking service on September 1st, 2022. As always, the Dan.com dedicated support team is on-hand to answer any questions.
