Game on-the-go with complete freedom: the JBL Quantum TWS is now available

Amsterdam – June 28, 2022 - Game free from wires and restrictions as JBL expands its JBL Quantum gaming range with the brand's first true wireless gaming earbuds.

For gamers who prefer an in-ear, wire-free experience, the JBL Quantum TWS is here to deliver. Complete with the incredibly realistic JBL QuantumSURROUND™, gamers can experience the best spatial surround sound solution in game, coupled with True Adaptive Noise Cancelling and Ambient Aware features to control outside noises and minimise distractions.

Designed for mobile gaming on-the-go, make sure you never miss a beat of the action, wherever you are and however you choose to play. The included USB-C dongle brings vast connectivity options for ultimate flexibility. Plug and play for a low-latency connection for players on a PC, Mac, PlayStation®, Nintendo Switch and supported mobile devices. The JBL Quantum TWS also supports two connections at the same time so players can connect to their preferred gaming device via USB-C dongle, plus a Bluetooth connection on a mobile device so you will never miss a call. The lightweight design makes the JBL Quantum TWS ideal for long gaming sessions, and the IPX5 sweat resistance rating ensures durability when using on the go.

Press Release

For the JBL Quantum TWS launch, JBL has partnered with Diablo Immortal as the latest free to play game from the legendary RPG franchise from Blizzard launched on mobile and PC in Open Beta with cross-play and cross-progression. Diablo Immortal is an all-new, uncompromised Diablo experience you can play anywhere, anytime. For the first time, players on mobile can battle against ancient evils in this mobile multiplayer online action RPG. Looking for the best way to immerse yourself in the heat of the battle? Open up the JBL Headphones App and activate the exclusive Battle Mode EQ for an audio experience tailored to the game. Launching in August, Battle Mode EQ is only available to JBL Quantum TWS gamers.

The JBL Quantum TWS will come in JBL's latest eco-friendly packaging and are now available in black from JBL.com for €149,00.

Features of the JBL Quantum TWS:

- JBL QuantumSURROUND™ for the best spatial surround solution for immersive gaming
- True Adaptive Noise Cancelling with four beamforming mics and auto calibration to stay in the zone
- Ambient Aware to filter in environmental noise to the player's preference
- Six microphones (three on each earbud) ensure crystal-clear communication with teammates
- Two-device connectivity via the 2.4Ghz wireless USB-C dongle or Bluetooth 5.2 for gamer-grade low latency connection
- 24 hours battery life – 8 hours with earbuds, 16 additional hours with charging case
- Lightweight, durable construction with IPX5 water resistance
- Multi AI support – simply push to talk with preferred smart assistants when connected to a mobile device
- Compatible with the JBL QuantumENGINE™ PC software and JBL Headphones app for the ultimate audio customization
