

🕒 28 August 2020, 05:00 (CEST)

PENTA

CEO Marko Wenthin leaves Penta

28.08.20, Berlin

After one year at the head of the Berlin business banking start-up Penta, Chief Executive Officer Marko Wenthin will be leaving the company for personal reasons.

Under Wenthin's leadership, the company has professionalised significantly and has taken important steps in its growth and internationalization. This included in particular the successful conclusion of the Series B financing round. Moreover, the Fintech company has benefited from Wenthin's many years of experience in the industry. Wenthin's and the company's shared vision to make Penta the best business banking solution will continue to be pursued. In the coming months, Wenthin will remain at the company to ensure an orderly transition.

In addition, Marko Wenthin will remain a shareholder of Penta after his departure and will continue to support the company on its successful path.

About Penta

Penta is the digital platform for business banking. Companies can apply for a business account within minutes and receive a German IBAN, debit cards for expense management and other financial services. The company is headquartered in Berlin, with an office in Belgrade. The management consists of Jessica Holzbach, Lukas Zörner, Henrik Jondell and Igor Kuschnir.

Press requests:

Solveig Rathenow

Head of Venture Communication

Mail: press@getpenta.com

ABOUT PENTA

Penta is the digital platform for business banking. Companies and freelancers can apply for a business account within minutes and receive a German IBAN, debit cards for expense management and other financial services. The company is headquartered in Berlin, with an office in Belgrade. The management consists of Marko Wenthin, Jessica Holzbach, Luka Ivcevic, Lukas Zörner, Henrik Jondell and Igor Kuschnir.

 pr.co

Penta