BETTRAi Health Integrates Remote Patient Monitoring Devices from A&D Medical

May 10, 2020 | Fort Worth, Texas

To address the growing need for telehealth and remote patient monitoring, BETTRAi is proud to announce the open integration with A&D Medical monitoring devices.

“Our mission at BETTRAi is to simplify healthcare for our customers and provide as many options as possible. We strive to give our customers the freedom and control of their health data and the ability to manage their personal healthcare needs the same way they manage finances, travel and other components of their lives. This includes the freedom to choose best in class devices from other providers, which is why we established this relationship with A&D Medical. We are excited to give our customers the option to buy these quality devices, and we look forward to integrating more products like these in the future.”, said Scott Birdwell, BETTRAi CEO.

Our goal at BETTRAi is to help simplify the complexities associated with the current healthcare system, improve the overall patient experience, and increase the effectiveness healthcare providers.

Since 1977, A&D Medical has manufactured and distributed a full line of advanced biometric monitoring solutions including blood pressure monitors, weight scales, activity monitors, and other health monitoring devices for consumer and professional use. A&D Medical is a worldwide leader in connected health and biometric measurement devices and services for consumer wellness and chronic condition management.

General customer availability for BETTRAI A&D Medical devices is scheduled for July 1, 2020.
