

Wolt, Deutsche Bank and Miles & More announce new partnership

Berlin, 13 May 2026 – Wolt, Deutsche Bank and Miles & More have announced a new cooperation combining everyday services, loyalty programmes and banking. In addition to the Wolt+ benefits, they will earn double miles on every Wolt order paid for with a Miles & More Credit Card. Lufthansa Miles & More Blue Credit Card holders will receive Wolt+ free of charge for six months. Furthermore, all Deutsche Bank customers, even those without a Miles & More Credit Card, can try Wolt+ free of charge for three months.

‘We are continuously expanding the range of benefits for Miles & More credit cardholders. Through this new partnership, they and other customers will receive attractive special terms with Wolt. This aligns with our strategy to offer customers tangible added value in their daily lives, even beyond traditional banking services,' says Kilian Thalhammer, Managing Director, Head of Merchant Solutions of Deutsche Bank.

'The cooperation with Wolt is a valuable addition to the Lufthansa Miles & More Credit Card portfolio, reflecting our shared vision with Deutsche Bank of creating a growing ecosystem of powerful brands that integrates Miles & More into everyday life,' says Panajiota Papas, Head of Programme Management for the Lufthansa Miles & More Credit Card. 'We are therefore delighted to be working with Wolt and Deutsche Bank to create an everyday offering with exclusive benefits that reward our members for their loyalty — benefits that are only available through us.'

Wolt+ complements the existing offerings of Deutsche Bank and Miles & More with additional everyday benefits, extending the user experience beyond mere delivery. For users, this means added convenience and value wherever they order, shop and pay.

The partnership highlights Wolt+'s transformation into an all-encompassing lifestyle membership that unites various aspects of life and provides customers with a broad spectrum of advantages through a single platform. The partnership gives Wolt+ access to millions of potential users and makes the benefits tangible for a significantly larger target group.

This partnership is an important step towards embedding Wolt+ more firmly in our users' daily routines. It combines compelling everyday benefits with a seamless user experience.
