Vélobici Albert jacket: Winterproof your ride

Warmth and weather protection using state-of-the-art technology

Leicester, January 8, 2020: Our new Albert Thermal Winterproof jacket allows you to ride in comfort regardless of the weather conditions.

The Albert has been created from a fleece-backed three-layer laminated fabric that is breathable, water resistant and windproof to deliver a high level of thermal protection in cold temperatures.

“The weather is so unpredictable these days that we wanted to create a jacket that would suit the wide range of conditions our winters throw at us - one day it’s freezing, another it’s wet and warm ...” said Chris Puttnam, founder of Vélobici. “The Albert will protect you from pretty much anything but it’s also incredibly light, which means you can pack it away when you warm up.” We’ve added reflective panels to the rear for increased visibility to other road users, and a reflective rubberised VB logo to the chest and rear hem. Cuffs are ‘duckbilled’ for additional storm protection and a hidden front pocket with waterproof zip ensures valuables are easily accessed.

A double front zip allows you to adjust the closure on the fly to provide full ventilation without removing the jacket. Throw the Albert over any riding kit to add an extra essential layer to winterproof your outfit.
