

Just Eat adds Domino's to the menu

New trial means Just Eat will be the only food delivery app to offer Domino's in the UK & Ireland

Just Eat has partnered with Domino's, the UK and Ireland's leading pizza brand, cementing its commitment to provide the best service and range of options for customers.

As the UK's largest food delivery platform, with over 60,000 restaurant partners and a reach of 97% of all UK postcodes, the partnership will allow many more people across the country to enjoy their favourite Domino's pizza delivered to their door.

The trial launches this week, with 10 Domino's owned stores across London, with a further 106 Domino's franchise partner stores across the UK and Ireland becoming available on Just Eat by the end of the month.

The trial will capitalise on the strengths of Domino's unique delivery network and orders placed via Just Eat will be delivered by Domino's drivers.

As an exclusive trial partnership, Just Eat will be the only food delivery app to offer Domino's menu, which includes fan-favourites like Pepperoni Passion and Vegi Supreme through to crowd-pleasers like Create Your Own.

"This is an exciting partnership for Just Eat. Our customer base of over 18 million and our extensive UK reach means we're well placed to enable Domino's to access new food orderers and incrementally grow orders. For customers, we're offering more of the food they love directly through the Just Eat app. Given the existing demand for Domino's, I'm confident it will be a popular choice."
