

BuzzAttack Brings the Thrill of a Live TV Game Show to Australia in an Interactive New Experience

Step up to the podium and compete in this high-energy interactive adventure inspired by classic TV game shows, launching into Brisbane for the first time.

Brisbane, August 2026 – Get your buzzers ready! BuzzAttack, the immersive TV game show experience, has arrived in Brisbane. Inspired by iconic TV shows like Wheel of Fortune and The Price is Right, BuzzAttack invites participants to team up and go head-to-head in fast-paced trivia and brain-teasing challenges where speed, strategy and luck take center stage.

Tickets are now available at <https://brisbane.buzzattack.games/>.

BuzzAttack is brought to life by Bombastik! and produced by Fever, the world's leading platform for live entertainment, and Inventive Productions, an award-winning experiential company. The experience delivers a 60-minute adrenaline-fueled trivia showdown perfect for friends, families, corporate groups and competitive spirits alike.

On arrival, guests are welcomed backstage onto the vibrant BuzzAttack set, where they can explore the dressing rooms before taking their place behind classic game show podiums. Teams then compete across rounds spanning pop culture, music, sport and current events trivia. With customisable categories, players can lean into their strengths, creating a tailored and high-energy experience for every group.

Between rounds, mini arcade-style challenges test agility and reflexes, with winners rewarded via spins on the wheel of chance – adding an unpredictable twist to the competition. Complete with buzzing podiums, fluorescent lighting and dynamic audiovisual effects, BuzzAttack delivers the full spectacle of a live TV studio. More than a game, BuzzAttack is a fully immersive experience. Its retro-inspired set evokes the golden era of television, giving participants the chance to step into the spotlight and live out the ultimate game show fantasy.

BuzzAttack also makes for a standout team-building experience. Blending quick thinking, friendly competition and laugh-out-loud moments, it offers a fresh way for colleagues to connect outside the office. Striking the balance between fun and healthy competition, it's ideal for corporate away days, celebrations, or breaking the ice with a twist.

"BuzzAttack is a perfect example of the dynamic experiences audiences are looking for today - it's interactive, social and, most importantly, a lot of fun. At Fever, we're committed to helping people connect in real life, through unique entertainment concepts that create lasting memories, so we're delighted to bring this brand new game show experience to Brisbane," said Ben Taylor, Regional Manager at Fever.

BuzzAttack is from the same creators of Boom Lab, the group gaming adventure in the heart of Shoreditch that has wowed audiences worldwide, from Orlando to Melbourne. Their vision to "redefine recreational group experiences" comes to life again as BuzzAttack brings a bold twist to London's cultural and entertainment landscape.

Part of Fever's growing portfolio of immersive experiences, BuzzAttack reinforces the company's mission to democratise access to the extraordinary, bringing innovative, high-impact experiences to audiences around the world.
