

Qatar Airways Brings Pre-Order Dining to Medium-Haul Flights in First and Business Class

Passengers can now choose their meals ahead of travel on flights of two hours or more, including signature dishes from ‘Flavours to Fly For’

DOHA, Qatar – Dine your way on more flights with Qatar Airways. The airline has expanded its 'Pre-Order Meal Service' to medium-haul flights of two hours or more, giving First and Business Class passengers more choice across a significantly larger share of its global network.

For select destinations, the service also features additional signature dishes from the airline’s ‘Flavours to Fly For’ collection.

Passengers can choose their main course from the onboard à la carte menu on confirmed bookings between 14 days and 24 hours before departure, via Manage Booking (My Trips) on the Qatar Airways website or app.

The expansion reflects Qatar Airways' continued commitment to placing passengers at the centre of its business and delivering thoughtfully tailored experiences throughout their journey.
