

WISE ACQUIRES EXPATICA AS IT DEEPENS SUPPORT FOR PEOPLE LIVING INTERNATIONALLY

- Expatica is a leading resource for people living and working abroad, with more than 7 million visits in 2025
- The platform helps expats access practical guidance on housing, healthcare, immigration, work, finance and everyday life
- Acquisition builds on Wise's strong relevance with expats and people living internationally

London, UK, 18 June 2026 — Wise, the global technology company building the best way to move and manage the world's money, has acquired Expatica, a leading online resource for people living and working abroad.

Relocating internationally is a major life event, and a reality for a significant portion of the world's population. According to the UN, 304 million people were international migrants in 2024, representing 3.7% of the world's population. For many, moving countries involves practical and administrative decisions across finance, healthcare and relocating. Reliable, locally relevant information plays an important role in helping people make those decisions with more confidence.

Founded in 2000, Expatica provides practical, locally relevant guidance for people living internationally, covering topics including relocation, housing, healthcare, immigration and finance. In 2025, Expatica reached more than 7 million visits, with its largest audiences across France, Germany, Portugal and Spain.

Wise already serves around 19 million people and businesses globally, many of whom live outside their home country. Expatica complements Wise's financial products with trusted information and guidance for people navigating life abroad.

Danny Butler, Head of Owned Sites at Wise said: “Moving abroad is exciting, but it can also be overwhelming. You’re trying to understand a new country, a new system and a lot of big financial decisions at the same time - often with information that is hard to compare or difficult to trust.

“Expatica has spent years helping people make sense of life abroad with practical, locally relevant guidance. That makes it a strong fit for Wise, because we already support millions of people whose lives span borders.

“When people are planning, moving and settling into life abroad, money is a big part of that experience - from getting paid to sending, spending and managing money across borders. Wise is built for those moments.”

Expanding Expatica for people living internationally

Expats are one of Wise’s most important customer groups, with ongoing international financial needs across spending, saving, receiving and sending money. Wise will continue investing in Expatica, including expanding its content, local coverage, markets and languages over time.

As people use Expatica to navigate life in a new country, Wise becomes a more familiar and relevant choice when they need to manage money across borders.
