

BOILERPLATE

Enviu is a global venture building studio. Together with our partners we've been building world changing companies since 2004. The ventures we build solve social and environmental issues and drive failing markets towards a new normal.

Today Enviu has a portfolio of over 20 ventures that show a better way of doing things is possible. Active in India, Kenya, Indonesia and The Netherlands, we take on everything from the plastics crisis and food loss to textile waste and urban mobility.

We believe in our mission, but know we can't do this alone. We use our voice to share the potential of our business models and bring others on board. We want to enthuse and motivate funders, knowledge partners, corporates and experts to help us put an end to the world's biggest problems.