The hotel

The NH Collection Palacio de Aranjuez occupies a building originally designed as a residential palace for Manuel Godoy, prime minister and advisor to King Carlos IV in the eighteenth century. The works, which ran until the nineteenth century, never finished. However, the wide vaulted roofs of the original building are now part of the hotel's spectacular hallway.

This hotel embodies sophistication and history. It offers an oasis in the heart of Aranjuez thanks to its comfortable and ideal location, perfect for exploring the old town by foot. It is located right across from the Royal Palace, part of the cultural landscape declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO, and just a 10 minute walk from the Royal Gardens, home to the Prince's Garden, the Fernando VI Pier, the Museum of Falúas and the Real Casa del Labrador, a neoclassical palace.

Services and facilities

The NH Collection Palacio de Aranjuez has 86 rooms. They are all decorated to evoke the building's cultural history while providing the utmost comfort. For a truly exclusive experience, the junior suites and premium rooms offer views over the magnificent Aranjuez Palace. The hotel also has a quiet central courtyard furnished with sunshades, tables and chairs, and is a great spot for a meal or glass of fine wine.

Food and drink

The culinary experience at this hotel starts with the buffet breakfast and its wide variety of fresh products prepared every morning. Guests can also order their preferred hot dishes. An early-bird breakfast option can also be requested at reception.

For a glass of wine in a relaxed setting and soft lighting, the hotel lobby bar is the best option. In addition to an extensive drinks menu, the bar offers a good range of snacks and light meals.

In the months of May and June, the hotel beefs up its culinary offering with its new 'Dinner under the stars' concept. An outdoor dining experience articulated around a tasting menu that starts with different creations, a shot of salmorejo and peach and a glazed artichoke and shrimp kebab with kimchi mayonnaise, for example, followed by several choices for the main course, such as a cut of marinated Iberian pork known as secreto, carved and served with laminated potatoes cooked in olive oil, or sea bass served with greens. For dessert, guests can opt for a slice of Sacher-torte with strawberries or a torrija, Spain's answer to pain perdu. This outdoor dining formula is available in the courtyard every Friday night until the end of June.
