The oldest hotel of Amsterdam is an integral part of the city's rich history. Located in the medieval center, it has been the preferred retreat of celebrities and royalty for centuries – including the legendary Empress Elisabeth of Austria, also known as Sisi, who found comfort within its walls. In the 1960s, even The Beatles stayed here during their visit to Amsterdam, marking another chapter in the hotel's storied past.

It has also played host to the art of Rembrandt, whose former home and studio are just steps away. The spirit of his masterpieces, including the iconic Night Watch, which hung in the property for over 70 years, is woven into the hotel's design and atmosphere.

With the Kloveniersburgwal Canal on one side and the River Amstel – from which the city derives its name – on the other, the setting is serene and relaxing, yet world-famous museums and attractions are minutes away on foot. Immerse yourself in all the vibrant city has to offer. Savor grand experiences and small moments of perfection in equal measure, brought to you with passion and the timeless hospitality of Tivoli.

RESTAURANT AND BAR

OMBER RESTAURANT

Inspired by the craftsmanship of paint-making and the limited colors Rembrandt Van Rijn used, restaurant Omber takes inspiration from the master. Umber is a rich brown tone, a signature color in the works of art of Rembrandt. The tone is complex yet warm, elegant, and sophisticated. Inspired by the Dutch Master's painting techniques, each dish reflects his mastery of light, texture, volume, and conservation. Flavors are carefully balanced like his use of light, textures create contrast just as his brushstrokes did, and layered ingredients add depth and dimension. Like Rembrandt preserved the brilliance of his colors, Omber's kitchen honors the integrity of fresh and local ingredients. Every plate is a composition of artistry and flavor, inviting guests to experience cuisine as a true masterpiece.

OMBER BAR

The only break Rembrandt took during painting was to drink a 'gin' and eat a herring sandwich. Please enjoy our chef's take on this in the Omber Bar. Several signature cocktails have been created by our mixologist based on the stories and celebrities that visited our hotel in the past, while Omber's wine list depicts a special homage to Saskia – Rembrandt's wife. Every label is selected from wineries that are either owned, led by, or feature a female enologist – a celebration of women in wine from around the world.
