The hotel

The NH Collection León Plaza Mayor welcomes its visitors in an elegant cloistered colonnade, part of Leon's main square, or Plaza Mayor, right in the heart of the old town. The hotel's original structure was a stately eighteenth-century manor typical of the town squares of central Spain, and a military building. Nowadays, behind the traditional façade, the hotel boasts a contemporary and elegant interior design that makes for a captivating mix of the old and the new.

Its excellent location means that its guests are just a five-minute walk from the city's impressive Gothic cathedral and 10 minutes from the Basílica de San Isidoro and Casa Botines Gaudí Museum, which tells the history of the building itself, of the famous Antonio Gaudí and of nineteenth and twentieth century Spanish art. It is within the pedestrian area of the Húmedo neighbourhood, home to a wide variety of restaurants and tapas bars. The city's main exhibition and conference centres are also a short walk from the hotel.
