Wolt announces a partnership with DGASPC Sector 3 to support seniors in the local community

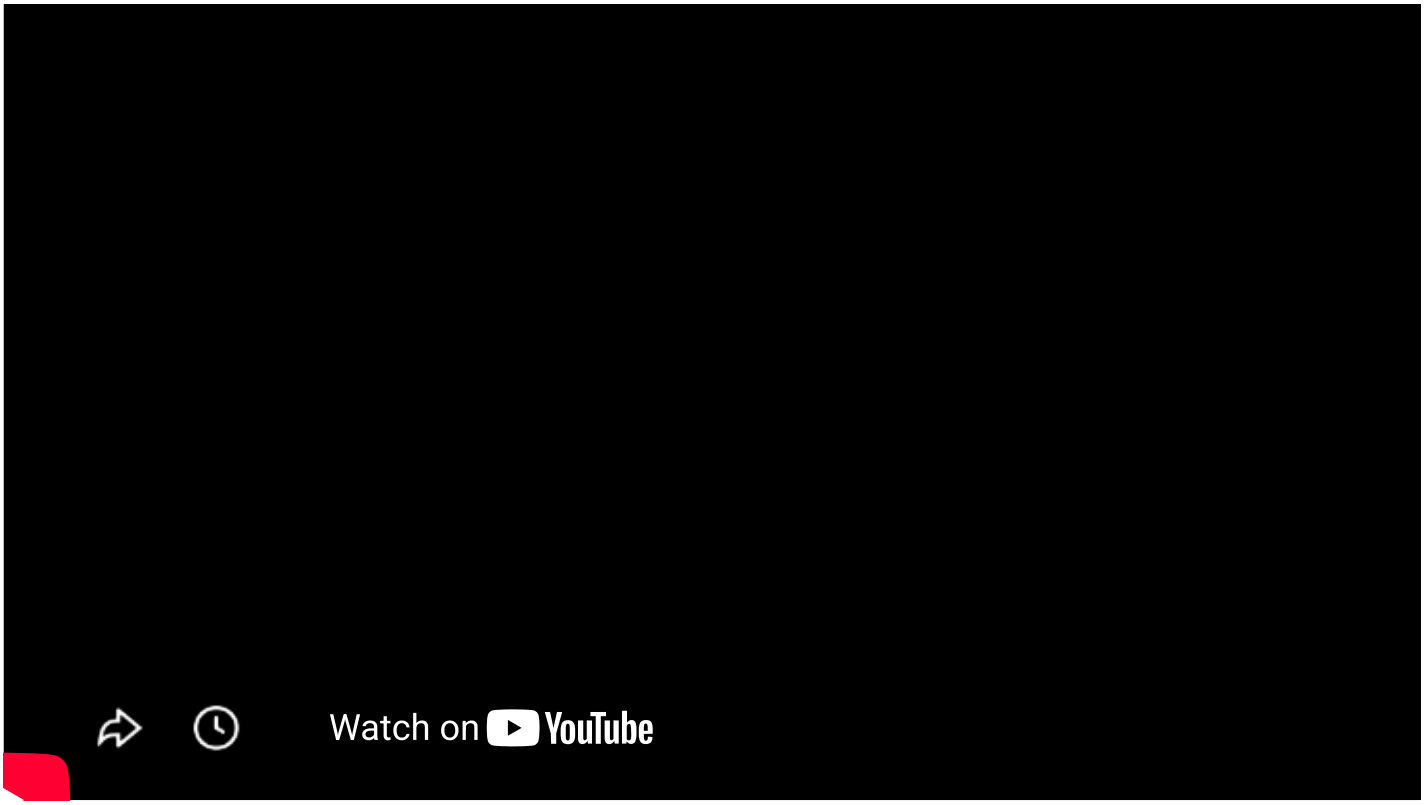

Wolt Romania announces a partnership with the General Directorate of Social Assistance and Child Protection (DGASPC) Sector 3 to support the institution's activities for the local community. The collaboration began with an initiative for members of the "Râmnicu Sărat" Seniors' Club and is part of Wolt's commitment to the communities where it operates.

The first activity under the partnership took place on September 2, bringing together 25 seniors and 25 young people from the PATROCLE Day Centre and the PINOCCHIO Services Complex, alongside the DGASPC Sector 3 team and Wolt volunteers.

Under the theme "Generations Together. Sharing the Joy," participants spent time together, tried new things and prepared a party inspired by birthday celebrations at home. Seniors played an active role throughout the day: making choices, sharing stories, expressing their opinions and preparing the space alongside the young participants.

The seniors explored the Wolt app and chose dishes they had never tried before. After tasting them, they shared their thoughts on the new flavours. Conversations with Wolt volunteers followed, with each generation contributing its own expressions and stories. Together, they set the table and prepared a party with music and cake.

Wolt supports DGASPC Sector 3 and the "Râmnicu Sărat" Seniors' Club by helping organise activities for seniors. These activities are developed alongside the institution's team, who understand the needs and preferences of people in the community. Through this partnership, Wolt also aims to raise awareness of DGASPC Sector 3's everyday work for the community, including the club's role as a place where older people can meet and socialise.

“Wolt grows alongside the cities where it operates, and we want to help build the communities we are part of. That is why we support organisations that know local people and create spaces for connection and belonging every day. Together with DGASPC Sector 3, we celebrate seniors and contribute to the institution’s mission of bringing people closer together. The day at the «Râmnicu Sărat» Seniors’ Club marked the start of this collaboration through an encounter between generations, with new experiences, an exchange of expressions and shared stories,” said Elena Petrescu, Public Policy Manager, Wolt Romania.

“For our seniors, part of the joy of this day came from being surrounded by people who had come to listen to them. For the young people in the child protection system who joined us, it was an opportunity to discover how naturally a conversation can develop between generations when everyone has a place at the table. We thank the Wolt volunteers for the warmth they brought to the day and for supporting the club’s activities,” said Mihaela Ungureanu, Director General of DGASPC Sector 3.

The partnership builds on Wolt Romania’s involvement in local projects. In 2025, the company transformed former Tazz delivery bags into backpacks and pencil cases for children from disadvantaged backgrounds, in a project developed with World Vision Romania and Atelierul de Pânză. Following the initiative for children, Wolt is now extending its support to seniors alongside DGASPC Sector 3. Both projects share the same starting point: communities grow stronger when organisations working closely with people receive support for what they do.
