PulteGroup's Built to Honor® program has welcomed U.S. Army Staff Sergeant Daniel Karafiat and his family to their new mortgage-free Centex home in Bethlehem, Georgia. The home was unveiled during a special dedication ceremony and ribbon cutting event with PulteGroup employees, local dignitaries, and community members in attendance. This is the Company's 10th year of providing homes to veterans and their families with gratitude for their service.

"We are honored to present Sergeant Karafiat and his family with the keys to their brand-new home, and hope it will be a source of comfort, security, and beautiful memories that they will create together," said Chad Plunkett, president of PulteGroup's Georgia division. "This home was made possible through the support of our entire PulteGroup team, Operation Homefront, Four Hands, Carter Lumber, Boise Cascade Company, Builders FirstSource, and all of our trade partners and suppliers who came together to make the dream of homeownership a reality for this deserving veteran."

To ensure the Karafiat family, including their three children, would be settled in their new home in time for the start of the school year, PulteGroup and its trade partners accelerated the original build timeline. As an extra surprise, the 2,638+ square foot home was delivered fully furnished, thanks to the generosity of Four Hands. The global designer and wholesaler of trend-forward home furnishings donated ultra-cozy sofas and seating for family gatherings, outdoor living pieces, a variety of art from Four Hands Art Studio, and fun accessories to personalize the home for their family.

"Our Four Hands team is very thankful for the opportunity to help furnish new homes for veterans and their families in partnership with PulteGroup," said Matthew Briggs, Four Hands Chief Executive Officer, "We hope our furnishings bring a well-deserved sense of peace and comfort to Sergeant Karafiat and his family for many years to come."

The Karafiat family home was awarded in partnership with Operation Homefront, a national non-profit organization whose mission is to build strong, stable, and secure military families so that they can thrive – not simply struggle to get by – in the communities they have worked so hard to protect.

"PulteGroup's multi-year support for their impactful Built to Honor program and our important work demonstrates their enduring commitment to those who have done so much for all of us…our military families," said Brig. Gen. (ret.) John I. Pray Jr., president and CEO of Operation Homefront. "We are both proud of and deeply grateful to all those who were involved in the expedited build of this beautiful home designed to give a very deserving military family the opportunity to realize their dream of home ownership."

This is the third home awarded by PulteGroup's Georgia division through its Built to Honor program, which was launched in 2013 to recognize and thank returning military personnel who have been injured during their term of service. Over the past 10 years, the Company has delivered 78 new-construction homes nationwide.

U.S. Army Staff Sergeant Daniel Karafiat

U.S. Army Staff Sergeant Daniel Karafiat enlisted in the military at age 22 and volunteered to serve in the 160th Special Operations Aviation Regiment (Airborne). After 10 years of service and three deployments, his military career ended in medical retirement in 2022. Sergeant Karafiat earned numerous awards and recognition for his distinguished service.

A Georgia native, Sergeant Karafiat and his wife, Rachel, are high school sweethearts. They have three children, one son and two daughters.
